

I-TEN wins the Electron d'Or Award 2014 for the start up of the year

July 22, 2014 -- Major event for the electronic industry in France, the 17th edition of the Electron d'Or rewarded I-TEN as the start up of the year 2014. Founded in December 2011, I-TEN is an innovative start up developing a disruptive process that allows manufacturing of a new generation of SMD all solid-state microbattery.

ELECTRON D'OR
2014

Fabien GABEN, founder and CEO of I-TEN, received his prize by the magazine «ElectroniqueS», in Paris at the FIEEC (Federation of Electric, Electronic and Communication Industries), on June 18th 2014 in front of 150 personalities from the electronic industry.

Among a selection of leading electronics companies from all over the world, the jury of experts has decided to reward I-TEN for «best start up of the year».

This award honors the technology developed by the company as well as its management. «Considering the fame of the prize, it is a great pride for the team at I-TEN», says Fabien GABEN. « Both our technology and business model are rewarded today».

SEARCH SILICO

12,000 IP Cores fro

Enter Keyword

RELATED NEWS

- ▶ February Semico Percent Compare
- ▶ Cosmic Circuits w of the Year Award
- ▶ Synopsys Wins T: Partner of the Ye
- ▶ MIPS Wins OCP-I Award
- ▶ Greensocs Wins C Contributor of thi